

A photograph of a person's midsection and hands on their hips, set against a white brick wall. The person is wearing a black crop top and blue jeans. They have a belly button ring and two star-shaped tattoos on their hips. The text "THIS IS A TEST." is overlaid in large, bold, white letters with a black outline.

THIS IS A TEST.

Your preteen's testing you again, just like those terrible twos. But the consequences are bigger now. With 1 in 5 high schoolers experiencing dating violence this test is an opportunity to talk with your preteens about responsible choices, even if they're not dating yet. Engage them, listen to what they have to say. Be a parent that matters. For conversation starters go to startstrongparents.org.

PARENTS: START RELATING BEFORE THEY START DATING.

startstrongparents.org

Support for Start Strong: Building Healthy Teen Relationships provided by a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.